

Anthea Charmaine Cloete-Landrew

Board Director

Anthea Charmaine Cloete-Landrew brings more than two decades of experience in law enforcement, investigations, administration, and leadership to the Garage Dance Ensemble Board of Directors. A dedicated member of the South African Police Service (SAPS) since 2002, she began her career in administrative roles before being appointed as a Constable in 2005. Since November 2024, she has served as Detective Commander at the Garies Detective Branch, where she provides leadership, operational oversight, and strategic direction in the management of criminal investigations.

She holds a Bachelor in Policing, obtained in 2020, which has strengthened her expertise in policing principles, criminal investigations, evidence management, and the broader criminal justice system.

As Detective Commander, Anthea oversees the management of case dockets, supervises investigating officers, ensures investigations are conducted professionally and in accordance with SAPS procedures, and works closely with prosecutors to prepare matters for court. Her responsibilities also include presenting evidence, coordinating court processes, maintaining high standards of docket control, and ensuring that investigations are completed efficiently and effectively.

Throughout her career, Anthea has developed exceptional leadership, communication, administrative, and investigative skills. Her extensive experience in both operational policing and administration provides Garage Dance Ensemble with valuable governance expertise, strategic oversight, accountability, and sound organisational leadership.

As a married mother, she also brings a strong sense of empathy, resilience, and community responsibility to the Board. Her commitment to integrity, professionalism, and public service aligns closely with Garage Dance Ensemble's mission of creating meaningful opportunities for young people and strengthening communities through the arts.
